

Our Journey Through 12 School Systems in Canada and the USA with Dyslexia

This is the story of one family's journey through 12 school systems in Canada and the USA with dyslexia. It is a story of challenges and triumphs, of heartbreak and hope. But most importantly, it is a story of love.

Dyslexic: Different not Disabled: Our Journey k-12 through the school systems in Canada and the USA with Dyslexia by Sandra Easton

★★★★★ 5 out of 5

Language : English
File size : 352 KB
Text-to-Speech : Enabled
Screen Reader : Supported
Enhanced typesetting : Enabled
Word Wise : Enabled
Print length : 252 pages
Lending : Enabled

Our son, Ethan, was diagnosed with dyslexia in the first grade. We were told that he would never be able to read or write at a grade level. We were devastated.

But we refused to give up on Ethan. We found a tutor who specialized in dyslexia and started him on a rigorous program of reading and writing instruction. We also made sure that he had a supportive and positive learning environment at home.

Ethan made slow but steady progress. By the end of the third grade, he was reading at a grade level. By the end of the fifth grade, he was writing at a grade level. And by the end of the eighth grade, he was taking advanced placement classes.

Ethan's journey was not without its challenges. He had to work harder than other students. He had to overcome the stigma of being labeled as "learning disabled." And he had to deal with the frustration of not always being able to keep up with his peers.

But Ethan never gave up. He was determined to succeed. And with the love and support of his family and teachers, he did.

Ethan is now a successful college student. He is majoring in engineering and plans to become a teacher. He is a role model for other students with dyslexia. He shows them that anything is possible if you never give up.

Our journey with Ethan has been a rollercoaster of emotions. But it has also been an incredible journey of love and growth. We have learned so much about dyslexia and about ourselves. We have learned that dyslexia is not a disability. It is a different way of learning.

We have also learned that the most important thing is to love and support our children. With love and support, anything is possible.

If you are a parent of a child with dyslexia, I encourage you to never give up on your child. With love and support, your child can achieve anything they set their mind to.

Here are some tips for parents of children with dyslexia:

- Get your child tested for dyslexia as early as possible.
- Find a tutor who specializes in dyslexia.
- Create a supportive and positive learning environment at home.
- Encourage your child to never give up.
- Celebrate your child's successes.

With love and support, your child can achieve anything they set their mind to.

Dyslexic: Different not Disabled: Our Journey k-12 through the school systems in Canada and the USA with Dyslexia by Sandra Easton

★★★★★ 5 out of 5

Language : English
File size : 352 KB
Text-to-Speech : Enabled
Screen Reader : Supported
Enhanced typesetting : Enabled
Word Wise : Enabled
Print length : 252 pages
Lending : Enabled

Lad Dog Baby Professor: The Perfect Book for Your Child

Lad Dog Baby Professor is a fun and educational book for children. It features beautiful illustrations and engaging text that will keep kids...

An Excerpt With Fifty Ways To Help Animals Promo Books: Unlocking Compassion and Making a Difference

: Embracing Animal Compassion The world of animals is filled with wonder, diversity, and unconditional love. They enrich our lives in countless ways,...