The Story

The story begins with a group of friends who are planning a camping trip in the woods. They are all excited to get away from the hustle and bustle of everyday life and spend some time in nature. However, their trip takes a turn for the worse when they are attacked by a group of cannibalistic creatures. The friends are quickly separated, and they must fight for their lives to survive.

The creatures that the friends are fighting are not like anything they have ever seen before. They are large, powerful, and incredibly fast. They are also very intelligent, and they are able to track the friends down with ease. The friends are quickly overwhelmed, and they begin to lose hope. However, one of the friends, a young woman named Sarah, refuses to give up. She is determined to survive, and she will do whatever it takes to protect her friends.

The Characters

The characters in Smalls are all well-developed and relatable. The reader is able to connect with each of the characters on a personal level, and this makes the story even more suspenseful. The characters are also very diverse, and this adds to the richness of the story. There is a character for everyone to relate to, and this makes the story even more accessible to a wide range of readers.

The main character of the story is Sarah. She is a strong and determined young woman who is not afraid to fight for what she believes in. She is also very compassionate, and she cares deeply about her friends. Sarah is the heart of the story, and she is the one who keeps the group together.

The other characters in the story are also well-developed. There is John, the leader of the group; Mary, the peacemaker; and Tom, the joker. Each of the characters has their own unique personality, and they all contribute to the story in their own way.

The Setting

The setting of Smalls is a remote forest. The forest is dark and foreboding, and it is the perfect place for the creatures to hide. The forest is also very large, and the friends quickly become lost. The friends are constantly surrounded by danger, and they never know when the creatures will strike again.

The setting of the story adds to the suspense and tension. The reader is constantly on edge, waiting for the next attack. The forest is a character in its own right, and it plays a major role in the story.

The Writing

Ash Ericmore's writing is clear and concise. He does a great job of creating a sense of atmosphere and suspense. The reader is quickly drawn into the story, and they are unable to put the book down until the very end.

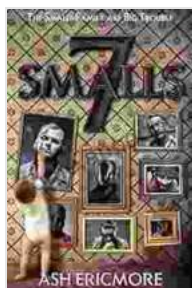

Ericmore's writing is also very descriptive. He paints a vivid picture of the forest and the creatures that inhabit it. The reader can easily visualize the scenes in their mind, and this makes the story even more immersive.

The Ending

The ending of Smalls is both shocking and satisfying. The reader is left with a sense of closure, but they are also left with a lot to think about. The ending of the story is open to interpretation, and this allows the reader to decide for themselves what happened to the friends.
